TARASCON TO CHICAGO

Frenchman Ready To Hop Off
Same Time as Charles Levine

By International News Service
Eight non-stop transatlantic flights,
both from Europe and American continents, were in sight today as the fliers, five men and three women, announced plans for the perilous crossing.
They are:
Charles A. Levine, who hopes to obtain a French pilot to fly his monoplane Columbia back from Europe.
Lieut. Paul Tarascon, who plans to fly in the near future from Paris to Chicago.
Rene Fonck, who is preparing for a non-stop flight from New York to Paris.
Mrs. Grace McMillan of Austin, Tex., who is making ready for a flight over the route taken by Col. Charles Lindbergh.
Lloyd Bertaud, who has agreed to fly
from New York to Rome, and return.
Mrs. Gladys Hoy, with Lieut. Delmar
L. Snyder, also in an entry in the New York-to-Rome race.
Thos. Rasche, German girl stunt flier, who plans a "solo" flight across the ocean.
Another German, Udet, who hopes to complete the long crossing some time
this summer.
Several other transatlantic flights are in prospect, but their plans have not yet reached a definite stage.

BERTAUD PREPARING FOR HIS FLIGHT

New York, July 7.—Lloyd Bertaud, famous air mail pilot, is in New York
today preparing for a non-stop flight to Rome and back in a giant Fokker monoplane, backed by William Randolph Heard.
Accompanied by his wife, Bertaud arrived last night from Cleveland. He has been flying the Cleveland-New York mail route ever since his quarrel with Levine resulted in his ouster from the crew of the Bellanca, in which Chamberlain flew overseas.
Test flights on the Fokker are scheduled to start today.

DATES FOR COLLECTION OF TAXES ANNOUNCED

County Treasurer Messenger Issues List of Banks To Receive Funds

Dates for collection of taxes at banks in six villages of the county were announced today by County Treasurer
James E. McGowan, as follows:
Lakota—McGowan, July 12 and 13.
Campbell—July 12 and 13.
Caledonia—July 12 and 13.
Prospect—July 12, 20, 21 and 22.
Morris—July 21 and 22.
Walton—July 21 and 22.
Green Camp—July 14 and 15.

fic Manager, Resign

SUCCESSORS NAMED

Herbert E. Roush and Willis R.
Aukland Chosen To Fill Vacancies

Resignation of the executive heads
of two departments of the Marion Steam Ship Co. was announced today
at the office of the president, J. L.
Anderson.

Francis W. Bacon, 501 Chicago-st., director of personnel and manager of the employment bureau, has resigned,
effective Aug. 1, and will be succeeded by Herbert E. Roush, 313 Marion-st., who is now general foreman of the assembling department.

Resignation of H. Emmett Stiffler, 320 Summit-st., as traffic manager,
went into effect yesterday and the department is now in charge of his former assistant, Willis R. Aukland, 943 Lincoln-st. Aukland has been permanently appointed as head of the traffic branch, the official announcement stated.

Francis W. Bacon, who came here from Dayton,
Nov. 10, 1923 and has formed a wide acquaintance throughout the city not only through his connection with the steam ship company but because of his leadership in athletic and sports activities, stated today that he expects to enter business for himself in either Columbus or Dayton after Aug. 1.

Stiffler stated that he has two offers of positions, one in Chicago and the other in Cleveland and that he expects to accept one of them in the near future.

First Chief Head

He retired yesterday as traffic manager of the local company after having served in that capacity nine years.
Prior to that time he was assistant traffic manager five years. He has been in the company's employ 14 years, being in the traffic department from the beginning.

He is the first president of the Marion Traffic Club.

In addition to being personnel director and manager of the company's employment bureau, Bacon had charge of turns to Page 5

BURNS FATAL

Ammonia Poured on Face of Sleeping
Infant

Detroit, Mich., July 7.—Alfred Cock-ing, Jr., 10-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cocking died today of burns and strangling caused by ammonia poured over the child's face and body while it was asleep in the Cock-ing home.

Police are holding Mrs. Helene In-drew, 38, former landlady of the Cockings.

Police say the Cockings moved the Infant's 16 days ago when they left some time ago. Indrew's government was arrested and obtained a judgment. Since then, it is said, Mrs.
Indrew has been seen several times
in the vicinity of the Cocking home.
The prisoner insists she is innocent.

TWO MEET DEATH WHEN PLANE DIVES INTO RIVER

Henington, W. Va., July 7.—Walter Shepherd, 38, Henington, and John P. Morgan, 30, Henington, W. Va., were drowned, Wednesday when their plane was driven into the Ohio River
north of here, according to the report of Colonel Stone, on the spot today.

Shepherd, a student pilot, took the plane without authority, according to officials of the Shenandoah Airport.
The men were strong, and not over 40 years of age. They were taken to the fatal site.

TWO HI-JACKERS KILLED
IN LIQUOR RAID ATTEMPT

San Francisco, July 7.—Two hijackers were shot and killed in an attempted raid upon a bootlegging bottling plant in the warehouse district here today. The dead men are believed by police to be a former local boss, Salvatore Carlonigono, and Salvador's brother.

DREW NEAR DEATH

Veteran Actor Can Live Only Few Hours, Says Physician

San Francisco, July 7.—The death of John Drew, veteran actor, is expected within a few hours, according to his physician, Dr. Lawrence Hoffman.

"Mr. Drew suffers a blood stream infection which cannot be checked and which always proves fatal," Hoffman said today.

"Toll taken by the septic poison
has been so great that Drew's amazing powers of resistance are virtually exhausted."

Drew has been critically ill for nearly two months. John Barrymore, a nephew, is at his bedside.

TOLEDO MAN IS IDENTIFIED BY GALION BANKER

Wilbur Hand, 35, Appears in Bucyrus To Employ Defense Attorney

BOND SET AT $50,000

Tells Lawyer "He Is Accused
of Robbery and Wants To Get Out"

Bucyrus, July 7.—Wilbur
Hand, 35, of Toledo, secured
Galion banker, who gave him up shortly before noon today arrived here and was placed in the county jail at 12:30 o'clock.

Denying his participation in the $25,000 holdup of the Commercial Savings Bank at Galion, a week ago, Hand said that he was guilty he would not have given himself up.

When Hand waited preliminary examination $50,000 was set as a

(Special to The Star)

Galion, July 7.—With preliminary examination waived, Wilbur Hand, 35, of Toledo, left here at noon today
for the county jail at Bucyrus, accompanied by local officers, as the second man accused of participation in the $25,000
holdup of the Commercial Savings Bank by five bandits, a week ago.

Taking of Hand into custody was the result of a series of unusual events that has left bank and city officials in a quandary.

Learning that his name was in the hands of investigators in the case, Hand yesterday appeared in the office
of Attorney W. O. Kennedy, of Bucyrus
and employed him as counsel.

It was reported here that Hand told the Bucyrus attorney that "he was accused of the Galion bank robbery and wanted to get out of it."

At the suggestion of Attorney Kennedy, the two men came to Galion shortly before noon today to see if bank officials could identify Hand.
While they were engaged in conversation with C. W. Treacht, assistant cashier, Cashier E. B. Heall, stepped forward and in a brief identification
Hand as one of the bandits immediately.
Fifteen minutes later, Hand was on his way to Bucyrus accompanied by local officers under the direction of Police Chief Frank.

Hand is the second man placed under arrest in the case. Harry Zillick, 30, of Toledo, the first, is in the county jail unable to furnish the $50,000 bond demanded by Mayor H. H. Hartmann, of this city, in preliminary hearing late Tuesday. Zillick has vigorously denied any part in the crime.

In the short time that Hand was in this city this morning, it was impossible for officials to question him, following identification made by Mr.
Heall. Hand was hurried out of the city with the greatest possible speed.

When investigators were given the name of Zillick they also received the name of Hand, it was said. Hand is believed to have received a tip on his information which prompted him to give himself up.

NEW YORKERS STRIKE
FOR UNZETTI, SACCO

Protest Against Death Sentences Imposed on Italian Communists

New York, July 7.—Between a quarter of a million and 500,000 New York wage earners are expected to quit work for one hour this afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock in protest against the death sentences conferred upon Nicola Sacco
and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, the Italian communists who were found guilty of killing a payroll clerk and his guard at South Braintree, Mass.

The Italians were gathered to-day
this morning, but Governor Feltner, of Massachusetts, who is making a review of the case, granted a 30-day respite in order to allow more time for a study of the evidence.

The Sacco-Vanzetti Movement committee in this city planned a number of mass meetings.

YASH REVEREND
Columbus, July 7.—William F.
Yash, a rabbi, was attacked and held for investigation by police here today, in connection with the death of Frederick Woodard, a 30-month-old baby, killed last night by a blind-and-run car driver.

The baby was struck as she was crossing the street, following her father. The driver fled.

C.F. THATCHER IS VICTIM OF FATAL MISHAP

Figures in Crash at Marion-Bucyrus and Millman-Ford-rds

SKULL IS FRACTURED

Dazed from Fall Few Minutes
Before, Youth's Machine
Glances from Auto

Dazed by a fall from his motorcycle
a few minutes before, Charles F.
Thatcher, 18, of 318 N. Greenwood-st., sped to his death when his machine
struck an automobile glancing blow
and crashed into a tree at the intersection of the Bucyrus and the Mil-man-Ford-rd, at 8 o'clock, last night.

Thatcher sustained a fractured skull
and a fractured right leg in the accident and died an hour later in City Hospital.

Witnesses to the accident declare Thatcher was traveling at a high rate of speed north on the Bucyrus highway when he struck the automobile driven by Mrs. Zink, 405 Patterson-st. Zink driving south, was turning his car west on the Milman-Ford-rd when the accident occurred.

Thatcher made an effort to avoid hitting the Zink car. His motorcycle struck the rear right wheel of the Buick.
He lost control of the machine and crashed into a tree about 150 feet south of the intersection of the roads. He was taken to City Hospital in the Hess, Marshall & Aas ambulance.

Thrown from Machine

The youth who was said to be an expert motorcycle rider was thrown from his machine shortly before the accident occurred at the intersection of the Upper Broadway and Bucyrus-rd and sustained an injury to his head.

Provision of assistance from passing motorists in bringing the youth to Marion for medical attention were declined by Thatcher and it is believed that he sustained his machine and drove away
while still dazed.

Death of Thatcher This Week

The death of the Marion lad last night was the fourth from within this week. Two lives were taken when Marion Jones, 21, attempted to cross East 1st, 18, both of Marion, from driving in Indian Lake, Sunday morning.

Allen T. Brown, 25, retractor, was killed instantly when he was run down
by a train in the Erie yards, at 8 o'clock, Tuesday night.

The accident victim last night was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James F.
Thatcher, of 318 N. Greenwood-st.
and was born at Marion, May 20, 1908. He is survived by three brothers,
James R., Robert and Joe and two sisters, Edna and Georgia Thatcher, all residing at home.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the Greenwood Episcopal Church at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Marion Cemetery.

GENEVA PAULEY TEETERS
ON EDGE OF DISRUPTION

Only Heroic Measures on Part of U. S. or Britain Can Save It

Washington, July 7.—The Geneva naval conference is teetering on the edge of disruption and failure and only heroic efforts on the part of either the United States or Great Britain can save it.

This opinion was almost unanani-mously held in Washington today on Britain's position in her demand on Geneva
for a complete halt of naval arms race—a program that would force
the United States and Japan to spend billions of dollars in the 5-5-3 naval ratio to be maintained.

If the conference is to be rescued
from its present precarious situation,
either Britain must abandon her fight for this amount of tonnage, or the United States must accept Britain's cruiser program of the sea until such time as the American navy can be built up to parity. It is more or less significant that officials here already are talking about "responsibility"
for the failure of the gathering.

Some of the more optimistic officials, however, saw a ray of hope today in two developments of the past 24 hours.
One is the wholehearted support of the American position by Japan's delegation at Geneva. The other was a sudden and unexpected visit to Washington by Sir Kene Macdonald, the British ambassador, and Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, who held a long conference at the state department, after which Macdonald offered to discuss the matter. It is, however, uncertain whether Jellicoe will return to the capital in the mid-summer but before concluding of permanent importance to the cause.

Japan Throws Geneva Parley Into Even More Acute Deadlock

CANNOT ACCEPT NEW DEMAND OF GREAT BRITAIN

Has England's Plan as "Exorbitant" Would Mean Building Program

Washington, July 6.—The Geneva naval conference is dangerously near the rocks. This much was candidly admitted today in official quarters here, although the admission was tempered by the remark of one state department official that "there is still reason to be hopeful that an agreement may be reached."

Seemingly, however, only a back-down by Great Britain in her demand for approximately 600,000 tons of cruiser strength can save the conference. For it was emphasized here that this government will under no circumstances sign an agreement at Geneva which will establish a one-on-one ratio for the United States and Great Britain. This is twice the maximum tonnage proposed by the American government at the outset of the conference, and, in the opinion of administration officials, would devastate the whole American program.

Geneva, July 6.—Japan raised objections at the tri-partite naval conference today that made the deadlock over Great Britain's cruiser demands even more acute.

The Japanese delegation allowed it to become known that they can not accept Britain's "exorbitant" cruiser demands or the compromise proposal of the United States because either plan would force Japan into a big cruiser-building program. The United States has made it plain that it would sanction a maximum British tonnage of 400,000 tons for cruisers, compared with the original American proposal.

Meanwhile, however, the United States has indicated that its policy would be to arrive to place the limitation well below 400,000 tons.

100,000 Tons Essential

W. C. Bridgman, head of the British delegation, told newspaper men that the latest British cruiser demands—about 500,000 tons, divided into 71 ships—are essential to an adequate defense of the British Isles. He insisted that England has no intention of maintaining a force which could be regarded as a threat to any power.

He insisted that Great Britain has the right to take adequate means for defense saying that it is "within our rights to assume we know better than other nations what are our needs."

Other nations what are our needs? The need that from the conclusion of the war until 1923 Britain built but 11 war craft of all types, as compared with 200 constructed by the four other naval powers.

"That should be proof that Great Britain has not started an armament race," he said, adding, with emphasis, that the British type of cruisers of 7,500 tons constitute merely a defensive arm.

Reach Sub Agreement

It was learned on good authority that the experts have reached an agreement to limit the submarine programs of the powers, irrespective of the total tonnage suggested at the start of the conference. Nevertheless, it is the opinion of the experts that Great Britain, the United States and Japan are entitled to a large number of small submarines for defensive purposes.

The Japanese, emphasizing the need of submarines for their defensive purposes, had argued that there be no limit set upon the number of submarines under 700 tons that they should build.

Hugh Gibson, head of the American delegation, told friends that he preferred to return to Brussels immediately rather than agree to an increase in armaments. Meanwhile the delegates carried on private conversations, no meeting of the experts having been scheduled for today.

No kind of change in economic rules will help the impasse.

PYTHIANS WIN AND LOSE AT LIMA MEETING

Canby Lodge Victorious in Page Rank Contest; Whetstone Lodge Defeated

Both victory and defeat went to Marion County lodges in the Knights of Pythians degree work contest held at Lima recently, according to unofficial information received by members of the order here today.

The judges have picked Canby Lodge, No. 51 of this city as winner in the page rank competition and Whetstone Lodge of Waldo lost in the knight rank contest, the advance announcement stated. Both of the Marion County lodges competed with Lima lodge.

Expert Copy

An official copy of the decision is expected within a few days. There were three judges, all past grand chancellors of the order.

Should this report of the outcome of the contest be officially verified, Canby and Lima lodges will represent this district in a contest for statewide honors in which degree teams from all parts of Ohio will participate.

The final state competition is scheduled to be held within the next few weeks. It will be under the direction of C. C. Williams of Columbus, grand chancellor.

Canby Lodge held its weekly meeting last night and in addition to transacting routine business arranged to enter the rank of page at the meeting next Tuesday night. As soon as official confirmation of the district contest decision is received, Canby degree team will start rehearsals in preparation for the state competition.

OBITUARY

Miller—Catherine Rebecca daughter of James and Rachel Abrams Brunson died was born in Delaware County, Ohio, Jan. 4, 1850, and passed away at her late residence, 477 South Main Street, Marion, Ohio, June 17, 1937, aged 77 years 5 months and 13 days.

She was united in marriage to Barney Franklin Miller at Marion, Ohio, March 8, 1877, and had been a widow for the past ten years. The Miller family resided on South Main Street, March 21, 1917. She was preceded in death by two daughters, Lulu and Loretta, one son, John Abrams Brunson of Spokane, Washington, and two half brothers, Daniel Boone Rider and George F. Rider of Marion.

She is survived by an only daughter, Mrs. Berdine Miller, director of public school music in the Pipestone Boarding School, Pipestone, Minnesota, and two half sisters, Mrs. Lee Reed and Mrs. W. L. Falk of Ashland, Ohio, and one half brother, Mr. William H. Rider of Canton, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Miller accepted the Christian faith and united with the church at the early age of twelve years, uniting at that time with the Old Blue Presbyterian Church in Delaware County, Ohio. Later with her husband she became a member of Pleasant United Brethren Church south of Marion and retained her membership with that church until it was closed to service in 1919 when her membership was transferred to the Methodist Episcopal Church of this city, where she remained a devoted attendant and faithful member up to her late death. She was a member of the Carhart Sunday School Class, the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and the Anna Gordon Branch of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Miller was a woman of rare and exceptional qualities. An ardent Christian first and always, a thorough student and a constant reader. Her aims, ambitions and endeavors were ever a standard the highest to be attained, and in her daily life honesty and integrity were irreplicable.

Order the order that came with the sweet serenity of right living. This she with her was law, and one immediately caught through the peace and quiet atmosphere in which she lived, her daily attendance with the Infinite as one inhales the fragrance of the rose.

Her mind and her energy never aged and she never murmured if the day were long. She was active and interested and thoroughly informed up to her last brief illness. She attended a lecture at the Oakland Heights Church on Monday evening, June 13, with relatives and returned apparently perfect health.

Monday morning she was taken ill to arise and gradually grew worse until her death Friday morning.

Genial hands that never wearied toil in love's unending sweet. Eyes that seemed forever cheering when our eyes they chanced to meet. There shall never be another quite so tender, quite so true.

As the patient little mother, gone to day from our view.

Yet in memory she is living, and shall live still on and on.

Forever as the days grow nearer, to our meeting in Heaven's beyond.

OPEN INVESTIGATION TO FIX TRAIN CRASH BLAME

Charges Made in Collision That Killed Five and Injured Twenty-Two

Haverstraw, N. Y., July 6.—An investigation to fix responsibility for the railroad wreck at Louisa, Va., in which five were killed and 22 injured, was started today by Governor W. A. Duboy of Rockland County.

Charges that the engineer of the passenger train ran past block signals set against him, and that the brakeman of the rear end of the freight train failed to throw a switch and signal danger to the passenger train are the outstanding points of the inquiry.

Preliminary investigation has shown that the New York, Ontario & Western passenger train carrying passengers from the Catskills to New York, ran through an open switch a quarter of a mile south of the Bear Mountain bridge and ran into the rear end of a freight train made up of empty freight and passenger cars of the west shore branch of the New York Central.

The first car of the Ontario & Western train was a baggage car riding higher than the day coaches, and it shot into the air tearing through the first passenger car for 20 feet, killing and maiming passengers.

TEN-CENT STORE HEAD'S SON TO MARRY PIANIST

Romance Develops When Young Lawler Visits Store and Sees Girl

Springfield, Mass., July 6.—A romance between a pretty pianist in a five and 10 cent store and the wealthy son of the president of the nationwide chain of S. S. Kresge stores, was revealed here today with the announcement of the engagement of Miss Ethel Bennett of this city to Chester Lawler of East Orange, N. J.

Lawler, son of O. C. Lawler, president of the Kresge chain, met Miss Bennett, the girl's parents revealed, while he was visiting the local store with his father. The girl at that time held a position at the music counter of the local five and 10 cent emporium.

Announcement of the engagement was made by the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Bennett. The couple, they said, will be married Aug. 1 and will live in East Orange.

HEALTH CAMP OPENED WITH 28 ENROLLED

15 Boys and 13 Girls Will Be Kiwanis Club Guests Two Months

Twenty-eight happy children left the city yesterday for a two months stay at the Kiwanis health camp on the Ocean farm four miles south of the city on the Gooding pk.

The day, long looked for by the children, had arrived, and early yesterday afternoon, 15 boys and 13 girls, selected by school nurses and by Health Commissioner W. J. Weyer, as most in need of the fresh air and nourishing food of the camp, were bundled into automobiles belonging to members of the club and others, and were taken to the camp.

Because of some misunderstanding, the program which had been planned to accompany the opening of the camp this year was not carried out. Immediately upon their arrival the children donated the camp uniforms and the daily program which will govern the camp for the next two months was started.

Mrs. Clara Geer, Red Cross nurse, will be in charge of the camp and the entire personnel will be the same as last year.

Mrs. Harriet Pfeiffer, camp doctor, was called to Cleveland Monday by the death of her father but will take up her work at the camp upon her return. Her place is being taken by Miss Lucy Todd, of Long Beach, Cal., who has been assistant director at the City Hospital.

Miss Doris Boudley will be play ground instructor and Oscar Hitten ranch all around man at the camp.

Lindbergh's Success Grows In Light of Other Flights

Perfection of Triumph Excites Flying Fraternity's Keenest Admiration

By CHARLES P. STEWART
WASHINGTON, July 7.—Colonel Lindbergh's New York-Paris flight, one of its razor edge from comparison with later transoceanic aerial flights, has won the unanimous verdict of aviation authorities. In contrast, it's the consensus that the wonder of Charlie's performance only grows, contrasted against those which have followed it. It isn't alone that Lindy was first. The perfection of his triumph is what excites the flying fraternity's keenest admiration while his unerring sense of direction remains the marvel of scientific pilots. Chamberlin and Levine lost their way, and had to land to find it. Maitland and Hegenberger had a 100-mile error in their calculations to correct before they arrived at their Hawaiian destination despite Hegenberger's skill as a navigator. The Ryd-Arcata-Noville-Balchen flight was only a very qualified success because of the misfortune which attended its finish. Lindbergh, quite untrained in the technique of navigation, beyond the average layman's acquaintance with the compass, steered a course which it's agreed that the captain of a crack ocean liner might have been proud of, and landed at Le Bourget as accurately as the parcel post could have delivered him anywhere in the United States.

THERE continues to be a noticeable undercurrent of talk to the effect that persistent attempts are being made to capitalize Lindy politically—or if not that, to keep him politically hushed up. The relationship between transatlantic flying and politics may seem pretty remote. All the same, remembering that Lindy's father was in congress for ten years and a strong, though defeated, candidate for governor of Minnesota, there can't be many people who have not had the thought that Charlie himself would be well-nigh unbeatable right now for any office he's old enough to qualify for. If this idea has occurred to anybody at all, then he sure it's occurred to the politicians—on both sides.

TRUE, Lindy says he isn't interested in politics—"too dull." But the right spell-binder might GET him interested—for example, by reminding him of his father. Publicity Director G. Hunter, Osborn of the Democratic national congressional committee issued a statement along this line only the other day. Without indorsing any of it, it may be significant to quote a few sentences. Just to illustrate: "When Col. Lindbergh arrived Secretary Kellogg who was chiefly responsible for his father's defeat for governor, fell on his neck. He had

Col. Lindbergh's father and detected the principles he advocated. "If the older Lindbergh was looking down from the ramparts of heaven, he must have enjoyed the show." DOESN'T this sound the least bit like an effort to drag Lindy into politics as a distracting element? And doesn't Kellogg's scheme to draft him as an unofficial ambassador, to go here, there and everywhere suggest an effort to prevent him from being dragged?

Is there really any potential political dynamite in Lindy? Well, put this proposition to yourself: Suppose Lindy should make an airplane tour of Minnesota or Missouri or the country during the next campaign, plugging to some candidate or party of his own preference. Being no politician, he might know nothing about the merits of the fight. But would he or wouldn't he make any votes?

41 SCOUTS ARE ENROLLED FOR SECOND PERIOD

Troop Heads Treat Staff to Chicken Dinner at Camp

The second period at Camp Owens has lured 41 boys away from their urban haunts to enjoy a refreshing two weeks in the wholesome atmosphere of the Harding Area Boy Scout camp. Troops Nos. 1 and 5 of Marion, No. 2 of Kenton, and No. 1 of Bucyrus are represented in camp now. Troop No. 2 of Kenton, has the largest delegation, with a total of 18 boys registered.

Chicken Dinner
T. P. Adams, scout master, and Merle Gast, assistant scout master of Troop No. 7, Prospect, treated the staff to a chicken dinner recently. Upon being interviewed today each member of the staff expressed complete satisfaction with the ceremony, and even went so far as to say that a repetition of such a night would not be out of place. If some kind hearted individual felt disposed to associate himself thus closely with the staff.

Takes Motion Pictures
Just at the close of the first period K. D. Hochstetter of the Osgood Co. took motion pictures of the activities about camp. Pictures were made of the boys at work in the shop, as they were playing ball and as they were on a nature study hike. The camp was snuggled in swimming, and as they practiced life saving. As soon as the film has been spliced, and titles have been made the reel will be available for projection at camp and throughout the Harding Area. It is planned to take pictures each period covering different phases of the work and scenery about camp.

Hospital Tied Up
The hospital tent has been erected and equipped for an emergency which may arise. H. Ward Esalt, of Pittsburgh, and a senior in the college of Applied Optics at Ohio State University, will be in charge. Mr. Esalt has had two years of experience in the University Hospital at Columbus.

Camp Paper
One of the unique features of Camp John A. Owens is the camp papers which is published twice a week. This sheet carries all of the latest news, gossip and comment that is of interest to the camp. The paper, "Heep-Wah," is edited by Harry Barker, senior patrol leader of Troop No. 1, Marion. The assistant editors are Herman (Hus), Troop 1, and John Sloan of the same troop. The fifth number of the present volume appeared today. If you drop into camp at dinner time Thursday you will find the campers greedily devouring the news of "Heep-Wah," as well as the savory food that "Mack" turns out at the kitchen.

Beginners Class
Already 10 boys are enrolled in the beginners class which is held during the swimming period. Many of these boys have learned to float and the great majority of them will have graduated from the "sinkers" to the swimmers before the period is over. A large group is also receiving daily instruction in life saving, under the direction of Frank Williams, of Columbus.

District Attorney Haveth E. Mau Raps Dayton Dry Raiders

BRANDS ACTION AS HIGH-HANDED IN INTERVIEW

Raps and Arrests Condemned and Called "Illegal" by Prosecutor

Allegations of federal prohibition agents from Dayton, in a city over the city were confined to the District Attorney's office today, in an interview with the district attorney, Haveth E. Mau.

The district attorney condemned the high-handed action of the prohibition agents in the city, and called the arrests and seizures of the Dayton raiders "illegal." He said that the prohibition agents had no right to enter the city without the advice of the district attorney, and that the arrests and seizures were made without the proper legal process.

appliance training, night school classes and safety work.

He is also credited with having brought about most of the program of sports and athletics which have become an outstanding factor in shop employees' activities during the last few years.

During Bacon's stay here the new shop gymnasium, one of the largest and best in the country, was constructed and equipped, the opening having taken place last fall. The shop's athletic field was also greatly improved and enlarged under his direction.

Under his direction, inter-shop basketball and recreational baseball leagues were organized and other sports features developed.

Care Team Managers

Bacon was manager of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. professional basketball team, which played for the first time last season. Bacon also played guard and the team was classed as one of the best in the country. Bacon's leaving will probably necessitate reorganization for next season.

He is also manager of the Marion Athletics' baseball team and plays second base. He stated today that should he locate near Marion after Aug. 1 he will return to play in games here during the remainder of the season.

Bacon is a member of the city recreational baseball commission and has taken a leading part in promoting sports in general during his residence here.

He stars in practically all branches of sport, having been one of the middle-west's outstanding college athletes during his school career.

Both Well Known

Aukland and Roush, successors to Stuffer and Bacon as department heads, are also two of the steam shovel company's best known employees. Aukland served as assistant traffic manager four years and in other positions prior to that time. He came here from Peoria, Ill. Roush has been an employee of the company about 15 years. After Aug. 1 he will direct all of the work formerly handled by Bacon, including the personnel department, employment bureau, apprentice training and night school.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT FLIGHT PLANS STARTS ON PAGE 1

uled to be made at Teterboro, N. J., the latter part of this month. The actual flight to Rome is planned for the early part of August.

The second pilot for the flight will not be named until shortly before hopping off.

Anthony Fokker and R. C. Noe, Dayton, his manager, are rushing the plane to completion. The great gasoline tank, which will carry more than 1,200 gallons of fuel, is to be placed in position within a few days.

Longest Flight Attempted

The Rome non-stop flight will be the longest ever attempted. Furthermore, it may take the southern route, which will carry it over more than 2,000 miles of the Atlantic Ocean.

Other transatlantic flights to date have been over the northern circle, with an actual water jump of about 1,000 miles.

It is believed by experts that much more favorable flying weather is to be found on the southern course.

The Fokker will have a cruising range of more than 5,000 miles. The actual distance to be covered on a flight to Rome will approximate 4,300 air miles.

Radio will be carried on the trip, but it is not planned to use it except for communicating with steamships to check on position.

TARASCON WOULD MAKE FLIGHT WITH LEVINE

Paris, July 7.—Lieut. Paul Tarascon, French flyer who has a Paris-to-Chicago flight in mind, today proposed to Charles A. Levine, who wants to fly back to the United States, that they both leave for America at the same time in two airplanes.

Such a plan, Tarascon said, would largely eliminate the danger of getting lost.

Levine had previously announced that he would fly back to New York if he could obtain a French pilot for his Bellanca plane, the Columbia, in which he and Clarence Chamberlin made a non-stop flight from New York to Kottbus, Germany. The explanation for Chamberlin's decision not to pilot the Columbia back was that he has "other engagements" in the United States that necessitate his return by boat shortly.

Hop Off Together

Tarascon proposed that he obtain a pilot for Levine and that he (Tarascon) hop off for the United States at the same time in his Bernard monoplane.

"If both our planes should leave at the same time the danger of getting lost would be eliminated because I have wireless apparatus aboard my plane and could keep in touch with wireless stations on land and with ships at sea," said Tarascon.

"Once we arrived over Newfoundland Levine could continue to New York but I intend to try to get as far as Chicago without stopping and thereby set a new aviation record."

Tarascon said he believes that by heading for Chicago after reaching Newfoundland he can find landing places more easily by passing over northern Maine and along a route close to Toronto, Buffalo and Detroit.

"The flying radius of my plane allows me just enough gas to reach Chicago," said Tarascon. "With the best of luck I should be able to make Chicago and with only an even break I should get as far as Detroit."

"My plane will be able to reach an altitude of 20,000 feet which I hope will enable me to avoid head winds which are almost continuous for 100 miles off the Irish coast."

Of an aviator that the trouble with Nungesser and Gail was that they were unable to reach sufficient height to avoid these winds and that their machine was too heavy and fell into the channel. Coli was an army mate of mine and after he was made many flights over Ireland. He knew that he would be obliged to get away up after leaving the coast of Ireland.

"I would be glad to try my luck in the Bellanca plane with Levine but his flying radius is not sufficient and besides it is a tough job being up in the air with a passenger who can do nothing to aid in the case of an emergency. You have got to give Levine credit. He has lots of nerve. If he'll fly back at the same time I leave I will do my best to help him get across."

Levine's announcement that Chamberlin was "constrained to decline to pilot him back because of other engagements has aroused considerable comment in aviation circles. There are persistent rumors that Levine and Chamberlin have come to a parting of the ways. Chamberlin has been quoted as saying that he would pilot Levine back if he had time to prepare for the flight, but his own way. He has, however, booked passage on the Leeward, which will sail next Tuesday. Before leaving Chamberlin will spend a few days in London traveling there with his wife by an air mail route—probably late today.

YOUTH ADMITS AUTO THEFTS UPON ARREST

Columbus Boy, 16, Released Saturday from Lancaster. Is Apprehended Here

Released from the Boys' Industrial Home at Lancaster last Saturday after serving one year, Anthony Catalano, 16-year-old Columbus boy, finished a hectic career of automobile stealing late yesterday afternoon, when he was arrested at the intersection of S. Main and Church streets in the act of stealing a Buick roadster belonging to George J. Chene, of Cleveland.

Catalano told the police that, as a means of getting to his home in Columbus, he had stolen three automobiles in the last two days and had attempted to steal a fourth from State street near Hotel Marion before his capture.

Captures Youth

To Harry Logsdon, of Louisville, Ky., goes the credit for the capture of Catalano and the recovery of the Buick roadster. Early yesterday afternoon while enroute to this city from Lima, Logsdon was stopped 10 miles west of this city by Catalano, who was standing near a Cadillac sedan, which he later told the police he had stolen in Lima.

He asked Logsdon to bring him to this city, saying he had burned out the bearings of the Cadillac.

He was accompanied by Logsdon who left him out at the Hotel Marion last night. Logsdon, who is a native of Columbus, was stopped at the intersection of Main and Church streets by the police. Logsdon was standing near a Buick roadster and was acting in a manner which aroused suspicion. Catalano appeared very nervous, he said, and after walking around the car would start to walk away and then would return.

Enters Machine

After repeating the several times, he finally entered the machine and after considerable trouble started the engine and backed the machine out of its parking place and started south on Main street. When he stopped for the stop sign at the intersection of Main and Church streets, Logsdon, who had become convinced that he was stealing the machine, opened the door of the car and climbed in.

Catalano struck at him and after a struggle which was witnessed by passers-by and by drivers of other cars whose machines were held up by the Buick blocking the line, Logsdon finally subdued the Columbus youth and called for help. Patrolmen placed the youth under arrest.

Tells of Theft

After his arrest Catalano told the police he had stolen an automobile which he used to get to Lima, where he abandoned the machine and took a "Cadillac," which he drove as far as 10 miles west of this city which he abandoned when he discovered he had burned out the bearings. Arriving here, he said, he had attempted to steal a machine from near Hotel Marion but gave up when he lost his nerve. He also told the police he had been released from the Lancaster home last Saturday after serving one year for automobile stealing.

He is being held at police headquarters pending a hearing in juvenile court.

Hoch Motor Sales Co. Brings Action To Collect on Stolen Auto

Suit for $825 was filed in the court of common pleas today by the Hoch Motor Sales Co. of this city against the Springfield Fire & Marine Insurance Co., for insurance on an automobile stolen from the local company on June 8, 1932.

The petition, filed by Clifford E. and Paul D. Hoch, partners in the plaintiff company, states the insurance company has refused to pay the claim, although the stolen car was never recovered. The Hoch company says that it complied with all requirements of the insurance policy with the exception of a provision which stipulates that notice and proof of theft shall be filed within 60 days after the theft occurs. This notice was not served when the insurance company agreed to waive its rights in that connection the petition states.

The stolen car was a five passenger Buick sedan.

Guthrie, Stroder & Guthrie are attorneys for the Hoch company.

Hearing Set

Hearing on the appeal of W. A. M. Longfellow of Lima, conducted as one of the nine members of Marion County's farm bureau board arrested several weeks ago has been set for 10 a. m. July 18, by the district court of appeals. The hearing will take place in Lima. Longfellow was found guilty of receiving stolen property, the claim being that his part in operations of the stolen land was handling sales of the stolen property. He is now in the county jail awaiting decision of the court of appeals.

Granted Judgment

Judgment by default has been granted by the National Cash Register Co. in its foreclosure suit against John W. McClure and sale of property ordered. McClure purchased a cash register of the company and failed to make payments the suit being brought on the amount unpaid.

COMMISSION ACCEPTS ELM HEIGHTS SECTION

CITY PLANNING BOARD APPROVES NEW ALLOTMENT NEAR VERNON HEIGHTS ADDITION

Formal acceptance as a part of the city of Elm Heights, a new subdivision, was accepted by the City Planning Commission at a meeting held in the office of Mayor Haren last night.

The plot was accepted by the board on condition that certain changes recommended after a visit by the board to the plot be made, with changes, according to members of the board has been agreed to by Mr. Lewis.

The plot lies west of Vernon Heights and faces Mt. Vernon.

Acceptance of the Elm Heights plot and the formal granting of permission for the building of a filling station at the intersection of N. High and E. Center streets was the only business transacted by the commission at the meeting.

REGIONAL OFFICERS TO INSPECT SCOUT CAMP

Party Expected To Arrive from Columbus Late This Afternoon

Camp John A. Owens of the Harding Area Boy Scout Council, five miles south of Marion, was to be inspected this afternoon by the Boy Scout Regional Executive Staff, composed of Harry A. Lind, regional executive, Theodore Foley and Minor Fred C. Mills of the American Rgl. Camp.

The Harding Area boy scout camp committee was to be on the scene when the inspection was held and Frank D. Glaser, president of the council, also was to be present.

The inspection of the Harding Area camp forms a part of the program being carried on by the boy scout council in all parts of the country. Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia are included in this region.

The inspection party were to arrive late this afternoon from Columbus and will probably spend the night here.

NEW YORK RESTAURANT LOCKED BY EMPLOYEES

Bar Doors on Claim That Wages Have Not Been Paid

Matrons surrounding the appearance of a lock and chain on the front door of the New York Restaurant on S. Main street this morning was cleared up when it was learned that employees of the restaurant who it is said, complained that they had grown tired of conditions at the restaurant regarding their salaries, had purchased a chain and lock and when they left the place last night they locked the chain on the door.

The place was officially closed and a lock placed on the door later this morning by Constable Scott. But on an attachment filed in municipal court by G. O. Bessley, of the firm of Bessley & Co., meat dealers.

The attachment was filed by Mr. Bessley after he had filed a petition in municipal court naming George P. Hallas, proprietor of the restaurant and Harry Lenney, as defendants in an action, asking a judgment for $200 which he says represents what is due his company from the sale of meat.

Harry Lenney who had operated the restaurant for a number of years and who recently disposed of it to George P. Hallas, is named party defendant in the action brought by G. O. Bessley on the grounds that Hallas had an agreement included in the transaction which provided for the paying of all accounts owed by the restaurant. The place will remain locked pending a settlement.

FINAL ORDER IS ISSUED TO OFFICIALS IN COUNTY

Majority of Indebtedness Reports Still Out, Auditor Thomas Says

Although County Auditor Earl E. Thomas sent notice to townships, school, district and municipal clerks in the county several weeks ago instructing them to file substantiated reports of indebtedness, the majority have failed to comply today the auditor learned that only about one-third of the reports had been filed.

The law requiring the filing of such reports is contained in the county code and is enforced by the auditor.

The law requires that all townships, schools, districts and municipalities file reports of their indebtedness to the county auditor by the first day of July each year.

The auditor said that he had received reports from about one-third of the townships, schools, districts and municipalities in the county.

He said that he had received reports from about one-third of the townships, schools, districts and municipalities in the county.

FLINT PILOT AND GIRL PLAN FLIGHT

Flint, Mich. July 7.—Plans for the hop-off next Sunday in the proposed "Flint-to-Honolulu" airplane flight by August Proctor, pilot for a local flying concern, with Miss Mildred Loren, pretty 22-year-old school teacher as passenger, were announced today.

The plane, built at the Marysville, Mich., plant of the Buell Aircraft Co. and equipped with a Wright whirlwind motor has been pronounced ready for flight by an expert from the Wright corporation.

Plans for a non-stop flight from Flint to the Pacific coast, as originally announced, have been altered. The revised itinerary calls for stops at Chicago, Kansas City, Tulsa, Oklahoma, and possibly a couple of cities in Texas before going to Long Beach, Calif., from where the proposed hop across the Pacific to Hawaii will start.

William Maloska, wealthy Flint oil man, is backing the flight.

MARION WOMAN BETTER FOLLOWING AUTO CRASH

Mrs. C. C. Barrett, 254 Patterson-st, Reported Resting Easily in Michigan Hospital

Mrs. C. C. Barrett, 254 Patterson-st, has been reported resting easily in the Wyandotte, Mich., Hospital, following an auto crash last Monday night in which she was seriously injured.

Mrs. Barrett in company with her husband and son, M. E. Barrett and wife of Mansfield, was returning to this city after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thelma Doyle, in Detroit, when the accident occurred.

The Essex coach in which the local party were riding was struck by a Studebaker touring car and the force of the collision threw Mrs. Barrett against the windshield breaking the glass. Her right arm was cut seriously from the wrist to the elbow, and she suffered other minor cuts and bruises. The driver of the Studebaker was arrested and is being held in Monroe, Mich., for investigation.

Mrs. Barrett is expected on condition on her arm at the Wyandotte Hospital, Tuesday evening. She is the wife of the late James Barrett of this city.

RELEASE AUTO DRIVER ON COURT APPEARANCE

Frank Miller, Newark, was granted yesterday a chance of winning the city title in a contest of driving.

Miller was arrested last night for driving an automobile without a license. He was released on his own recognizance to appear in court today.

CALEDONIA MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. A. D. Messerly Hostess to Home and Foreign Group Members

Caledonia, July 7.—The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society was entertained at the home of Mrs. A. D. Messerly yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. Nell Morrison and Mrs. H. Hamel assisting.

The meeting was opened by singing, "Blessed Assurance." "In The Secret of His Presence" was the subject of devotionals, which were conducted by the president, Mrs. Mollie Rinker. Roll call was responded to by nine members each reading short clippings. A feature of the meeting was the reading of a letter received from Miss Enid Sampson, of Sitapur, India. Miss Sampson is the young lady which the Caledonia Auxiliary is supporting in scholarship.

A communication from the district corresponding secretary, Mrs. David W. born, was read urging the members to attend the Mission School at Lakeside, July 24-29. The August meeting is the last meeting of the conference year and it is requested that all mite boxes and financial obligations be taken care of at that time. Mrs. Fancher presided for the Lesson Study. One new name was received for membership. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Catherine McKinstry, Mrs. Catharine Jackson, Mrs. C. D. Ivey, Misses Mildred Hurre and Martha Elliott, Rev. F. S. Fancher and Alvin Kearns. During the social hour Mrs. Bessie Kearns read "Mrs. Chirkey Goes Driving." Mrs. Morrison conducted a tongue twister contest, and Alvin Kearns contributed a clarinet solo, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mildred Hurre. Mrs. Ivey sang the hymn in serving nice refreshments.

Farm Lands Appreciating in Price.

There is ground for general congratulation in the showing made by farm lands in the annual report of County Recorder Charles E. Smith. That the average price of our agricultural acreage transferred during the past year should show an advance of over nine dollars over the average price per acre for the year preceding is decidedly heartening. It indicates that the bottom has been reached and that farm lands are coming back to normal values. For some years farm lands have been abnormally low, the result of past abnormal inflation of prices. Some years ago there was wild speculation in land. It was given a fictitious value as a result. Optimists saw great possibilities in buying farms at prices for which farms here in America farmed by Americans could not give adequate return. The consequence was that many of those who purchased at inflated prices, paying a third down and obligating themselves to make the two deferred payments in one and two years, were unable to meet their obligations. The lands thus purchased were thrown upon the market in such volume that land values fell off to such an extent that some of those who entered into such speculations not only suffered the loss of their cash payments, but also had other properties they possessed taken from them. In some cases judgments secured on the purchase price notes given so far exceeded the prices brought by the farms when sold under the hammer that they entirely wiped out the financial many who had been well to do before they purchased at the inflated prices.

A small acreage used for gardening purposes might be utilized to produce results on land purchased at $200 or upwards. Orientals and some other foreigners who engage in intensive production and to accomplish it work their wives and their children in their fields may be able to pay such prices for small tracts of land which they can thus handle without employing outside labor. But American farmers employing American methods on large farms can not produce fair returns on any such values as prevailed here in Marion county a few years ago, and many of them now appreciate the fact to their sorrow.

So long as the memory of the last boom in farm lands and its aftermath obtains, there is hardly any likelihood of a recurrence of the inflated values which brought so heavy financial loss to many who purchased at the time and caused lands to drop to figures far below their normal value.

Something Lacking.

Death is never without an element of sadness. Deaths such as recorded upon our first page yesterday are particularly sad. Allen T. Brown, thirty-five, in the very prime of his manhood, had his life crushed out under the wheels of a car, leaving a young wife, an infant child and a loving mother to mourn his passing.

In another way, the death of George Davidson, fifty-eight, was no less shocking. That a man should drop dead while in the quest of employment which he had been seeking for eight months to no avail, must cause a shock to our community. It must bring home to us the fact that there is something lacking in our civic machinery. It must bring home to us that we should have some organization whose business it would be to connect men with jobs. It is unthinkable that any man in a city enjoying the general prosperity which Marion has enjoyed in the past, and is enjoying at present, should search for eight months without finding some legitimate means of earning a livelihood.

If we have such an organization, it certainly has not been functioning as it should. Davidson's eight-months search for work justifies this conclusion.

The last manifesto of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaevitch, predicting the early smash-up of bolshevism, is said to be his fifty-seventh. It must be a matter of satisfaction to Nick that he has at last achieved the entire fifty-seven varieties.

The Washington Star says Secretary Herbert Hoover has "added his commendation to the virtues of Washington as a summer resort." Hub! We could do that with one hand tied behind our back, if nobody asked us to name 'em.

Of course, the mere suggestion may result in an early boost in the price of farm lands in the immediate vicinity of this city, but wouldn't it be a good business stroke at a time when the average value of farm lands, figured on sales for the past year, is $22.62 an acre to get an option on a tract for a landing field?

It is pleasing to note that Helen Willis is playing her game again, as manifested by her victories at Wimbledon. This statement is predicated, however, upon the understanding that the sport writers to not resume their practice of referring to her as "Little Helen." She weighs anywhere from thirty to fifty pounds too much to be referred to like that.

We Think Well of Mr. Jacoby.

The election of J. Wilbur Jacoby as president of the new state board of real estate examiners is a naturally pleasing to all of us here in Marion and Marion county, as it is a well-deserved honor to a fellow-citizen.

Mr. Jacoby has given so much time and thought to the subject at hand, and his ability and training are such, that he is especially well-qualified for the position and will prove an able servant of the state at a time when special ability is needed, for it will be the duty of the new board to map out a course of procedure which not it alone, but the boards which succeed it as well, will follow.

We have such confidence in Mr. Jacoby's fitness for the place and such esteem for him personally that we feel assured that his record as presiding officer of the board will reflect credit upon himself and be a source of credit to our community.

We congratulate Mr. Jacoby no more than we felicitate the people of Ohio that Governor Donahay named him for a place on the board. It was a happy selection.

Daily Dip and Rub for Health.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

One of the best ways to keep the skin in condition and the muscular system in working order is to take a good bath every day. Follow it by brisk rubbing with a bath towel. In this way the skin is cleaned and put into a glow of health, and the muscles are given a reasonable amount of exercise. When you walk, throw back your shoulders, pull in the stomach, draw in the chin. Walk lightly as if you had business before you. This practice will develop for you a posture which will give the impression of health and which, in fact, will be an evidence of health.

Don't mistake nature. Have a happy expression because you are happy, a pink skin because you have earned it, and firm muscles because you are in the habit of using them. I read an article the other day about bathhouses. It said that the first American tub was installed in a Cincinnatian home in 1842. It was made of mahogany and weighed almost a ton. This tub was a formidable thing, seven feet long and four feet wide, lined with sheet lead.

Baths are always conservative and the physicians of Cincinnati were very much upset about the installation of this bathtub. They predicted "lung fever," as pneumonia was known in those days, for anybody who would take a bath in the Winter-time.

Doctors are always seeking to wipe out the causes of disease. You will not be surprised to learn that the physicians in Philadelphia were so disturbed by the dangers of winter bathing that they attempted to get the common council of Philadelphia to pass an ordinance prohibiting bathing between November and March.

According to the article I read, Boston feared bathing at all seasons. An effort was made there to permit bathing only on a doctor's prescription. There was no bathtub in the White House until 1850, when President Fillmore had one installed. Everybody should have a tub bath at least twice a week. It is better still to have it every day. The skin can not be kept in good order unless it is thoroughly cleansed, and unless the skin is in good order we can not expect to have vigorous health.

In caring for the skin, first consideration must be given to the bathing. In this connection I can not forbear mentioning the importance of taking lots of water internally. The cleansing process is complete only when the body is washed inside and out.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

M. W. L. Q.—What will make the eyelashes thicker and darker?
 A.—Apply one per cent. yellow oxide of mercury ointment to the eyelids at night upon retiring. This should stimulate their growth.

W. R. Q.—What do you advise for pimples?
 2.—What should a boy weigh, who is fourteen years of age, four feet eleven inches tall?
 A.—Correct the diet, by cutting down on sugar and starches. Eat simple food. Send self addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question.

H. H. Q.—He should weigh about 108 pounds.—Copyright, 1927.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Poems That Live.

MY LADY LURES.

My Lady lures me with her eyes.
 Were I a cavalier of France
 I'd storm her heart in any wise
 To read Love's answer in her glance.
 Beyond the hap of circumstance
 My Lady's favor is a prize!
 Though lovely is her countenance,
 My Lady lures me with her eyes.
 I would ride forth at sun's first rise
 And for her honor break a lance.
 And, mayhap, heart's bravest soft skies,
 Were I a cavalier of France.
 A troubadour of old romance
 Thought to meet his Lady's heart with sighs.
 But I would pipe and she would dance—
 I'd storm her heart in any wise.
 How busily Time's shuttle flies
 The wood upon the warp of chance!
 Weave I no web for her surprise—
 To read Love's answer in her glance?
 When she retreats I will advance,
 And scale her heart to Paradise;
 I'll taste her lips, as in a trance,
 And see if only with her eyes.

—Elliot Kaye Snow.

But it is good for me to draw near to God; I have put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all Thy works.—Psalm 123.

Prayer.—O God, Thou art my King working salvation in the midst of the earth.

Physical Education To Be Restored as Feature of Galion School Curriculum

Lack of Funds Necessitated Elimination of Course Last Year;
Miss Zilpha Marsh and Francis A. Eaton To Direct
Work of Department

Galion, July 7 - Physical education will again be an important feature of the Galion school curriculum next year according to recent action of the official school body when directors for athletic work were elected. Last year, for the first time since the erection of the high school building the usual program of gymnasium work was not carried out due to lack of funds and necessary equipment in certain departments. It was not until then that school authorities, they point out, realized how important a course in physical education could be and how school spirit and student interest were hindered because of inadequate facilities.

CHAPTER FIFTY
The effect of the words was Voices were shouting toward revealed head of the Marabout Where is the Eye? We want the Woe to Moslem if it has gone
The Eye has not gone to Spain.
A wizard of the wizard has hidden it,
knows that without it we cannot move for power and freedom and to march as we had before. I promise you, as Allah will, that the Eye will be displayed
before a single battle occurs.
of the Faith, soldiers of will you follow me?"
saw a fresh movement of men
heard the confused sound of the Marabout's voice, but owing to the dim about him he could distinguish a single word that his friend was saying. But he saw the great Marabout on the slope going over the Marabout of Adrar and he had a fleeting thought that the Marabout was perhaps a greater trickster than himself, for he had successfully pulled the strings of all their eyes on more than one occasion. Thoughts of a new adventure seemed to have vanished utterly.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he entered the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice.
Known to druggists and the public since 1875 as Dr. Caldwell Syrup Pepsin.
Then the treatment of constipation,
headaches, indigestion, sour stomach and other ailments that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and syrups. These are still the basis of Dr.
Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.
Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic laxatives and purges. He did not believe that were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can convince them the practice, but they should never be given to children.
The simple remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

AT AGE 83

Clicquot Club

Ginger Ale

Aged 6 months

—an exclusive, secret process

Clicquot Club is aged like a rare wine.

Only master hands, guided by the skill and experience of many years, can weave its choice flavorings, from the world's best markets, into this unusual product.

Only aging under expert care can give these ingredients, whose quality is higher than the highest government standards, a chance to develop a distinctive flavor. As in well-ripened wines, the bouquet and aroma depend upon aging—upon proper protection from air and light.

Like liquid diamonds, the pure, clear water of the Clicquot spring finds its way into the New England sunlight to become a perfect medium for man's skill in the blending of Clicquot Club Ginger Ale.

In all the world there is only one Clicquot spring and only Clicquot Club can offer this heritage of purity.

It is the result of forty years of skillful working with a natural water which scientists say is peculiarly adapted to the production of a high quality ginger ale. The water of the Clicquot spring combines perfectly with the pure fruit flavors used in its making.

Every time you open a bottle of Clicquot Club—
the glowing Golden or the dainty Pale Dry—the combination of Nature's bounty and man's devotion to an ideal offers a refreshing delight.

Clicquot Club is a complete answer to thirst and should be in every home
for all occasions.

prisoners beneath the Temple would be welcome recruits for Omar ben Medjed.
He thought, too, of the Sacred Eye in Omar's hands. Briefly he thought Omar had been foolish not to reveal the Eye and thus, perhaps, away the balance of power back to his own side. But then, he reasoned, perhaps Omar knew of a wiser plan. In all events if he chose to keep possession of the Eye a secret, no doubt he had a reason for it.
For the life of him he could not fathom Omar's motive in exposing the secret, thus precipitating the crisis that now swirled about them all. The sounds of the battle still dinned in his ears as he reached the narrow court of the Temple. He knew he would meet no living soul here, nor within, save only a few eunuchs who acted as guards;
nevertheless he had reckoned his account from which he had torn the fire, and had again pulled his hooded mask across his face.
As the great doors of the Temple crashed behind him it was like entering a tomb. No sound of the conflict beyond the walls now reached his ears.
Here, all was peaceful. His thoughts still raced with the idea that was forming in his mind, having to do with the prisoners down below, almost a thousand of them. He hastened swiftly through the trial throne room, seeking the quarters that he had been told were his. Here he found Beuna, unaware of the changed situation, reclining on a couch, awaiting his coming.
In swift, well chosen words, he told her of what had occurred outside, his heart aching as the light of joy which had lit her eyes on his approach died out, to be succeeded by somber despair.
Hastily, he made her don a burnous
and turban from apparel that was in the room; then, seizing on others for his own use he rolled them into a compact ball, which he thrust beneath his arm. With Beuna's hand clutched tightly within his own he made for the raised dais on which reposed the gilt
and carved throne of the Berbers.
Behind it he found the opening through which he had been precipitated
the previous day, and walking around this he found a small door, which he opened, to gaze downward at narrow steps which wound into the dim vistas below. His marabout's mask covering his face and his scarlet robe wound tightly about him, still carrying his future disguise beneath his arm, he walked down the steps, Beuna behind him, and an instant later found himself
among the prisoners of the Temple.

A compliment gains nothing by being elaborated.

KONJOLA ENDED MY RHEUMATISM; ALL PAINS GONE

Marion Lady Rejoices Over Health She Derived From Celebrated New Medicine

More convincing evidence of the extreme power of this new Konjola medical compound, which is being introduced to Marion people by The Kon-

Pharmacy, this city, is told in a statement, made just a few days ago, by

MRS. H. J. PHELPS

Mrs. H. J. Phelps, living on Ruth Avenue, Marion, Ohio, tells about the work of Konjola in the following report:
"For years and years I have treated with different remedies for rheumatism," said Mrs. Phelps, "but never found the right medicine until I got this Konjola.
It ended my rheumatism so that all pains are gone and I am feeling better
in general than I have in years."
"The joints of my knees is where I always had been suffering the most. My limbs were swollen, and the pains were dreadful at all times. Both day and night I was in misery. Most of the time I couldn't sleep at all, and when I did rest it was only in short periods. I seemed to roll and toss for hours, because my nerves were unstrung, and all these miseries kept hanging over me until I was getting weaker all the time."
"I noticed that Konjola was recommended by so many people here in Marion, and I had confidence in this medicine. It certainly did wonders in my case and I want others to benefit like I have. The swelling is all gone from my knees, and there is not a single ache or pain in my body. It is a blessing just to sleep good, and I never wake up or have nervous spells like I did before. This alone is worth the world to me. Konjola certainly deserves all the great praise so many people are giving it, and I want to make this statement to help others."
The Konjola Man is at the Stump
Pharmacy (Stump & Sons), 121 South
Main Street, Marion, Ohio, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.—Adv.

WILSON BOHANNON CO. IN PARTIAL OPERATION

Expect To Have Plant Running
Full Blast by July 15.
Report

The Wilson-Bohannon Co., local industrial concern which moved here recently from Brooklyn, N. Y., has started partial operation of its new factory on Backstreet, and expects to have the entire plant running by July 15.
The first department started production yesterday when the machinery used for manufacture of padlocks was set in motion. The company makes locks of various types for which a nationwide market is already established.
All of the machinery and equipment used at the factory formerly located in Brooklyn has arrived at the new plant
here and installation is now being completed. Orders now on hand assure steady operations and others are coming in daily at the local office.
W. B. Tway, president, and A. Van Kleeck, secretary, are now located in Marion permanently and the business is under their direction and management.

MARION GIRL RECEIVES LIFE TEACHING PERMIT

Miss Margery Eymon, 572 S.
Vine-st., Notified of Certificate by State Board

A life certificate for teaching in grade and high schools in the state of Ohio has been issued to Miss Margery Eymon, 572 S. Vine-st., according to an official notice issued yesterday by the state board of school examiners through Vernon M. Haged, director of education.
Miss Eymon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Eymon, will teach in the city schools here next year, having been included in the list of appointees announced several weeks ago by the local board of education. During the last three years she taught in the Claridon High School.
She is a graduate of Harding High School and also of Ohio State University, where she received the Bachelor of Science degree.
Surest way to make your name permanent and gratefully remembered, is to present a city with a park, large or small.

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Tender Feeling for Madge
FOR the last half hour of our drive to the inn among the hills overlooking the Hudson there was no word spoken in the great car which, piloted skillfully by Otto, Philip Veritas's chauffeur, was rushing us so smoothly
and swiftly over the highway.
Each of our little group, ostensibly was engaged in looking at the exquisite beauty of the roadside, but I guessed that Philip Veritas was distinctly sulky over Lillian's subtle dating of him as of her own generation instead of mine. That Lillian was absorbed in rueful thoughts of the injustice she had done Mary Harrison, I also was certain, but for myself I seemed unmoved against any troubling thoughts and gave myself up to the pleasure of the outing. It was one that was not likely to be repeated soon, I told myself with a gleam of humorous compenensation that he had extended the next morning to me, and as Lillian's presence lessened me that I had no anxiety to fear from the subtle little audacity of Philip Veritas, I had nothing to mar
my thorough enjoyment of the day.
We had left the main highway and were steadily ascending a comparatively unfrequented road, not so well paved
as the main one, but still not rough,
and making up for any deficiencies in its construction by the beauty of the woodland and occasional charming, old-fashioned farmhouses which bordered it.
Upward the road wound among the hills, and through occasional vistas we caught sight of distant water and of other woodland and houses on the other side of it. And then the road widened and curved, and there appeared before us a picturesque stone wall with gates of brown rocks, the walls covered with trailing vines and serving as the setting for a big rambling building, also covered with vines, and surrounded with lawns which, almost hidden by a cluster of protecting pines and oaks, only capped the hillside.
That there were other people besides
Mr. Veritas who knew of the place and appreciated its beauties was proved by the many motors parked in the ample grounds. As Otto drew our car to the steps, and we alighted, I looked at our host and curiously per-sized.
"Where do all these cars come from?" I asked. "We know none on the road."
He laughed in amused fashion.
"Just come over, to the other side of the balcony," he suggested. "Of course, I'll show you the answer."
"No, I've never been here before,"
she answered, and then we reached the other side of the house and saw that several hundred feet below us, the winding road over which we had come gazed the main highway. Stone walls and brown rock gates, even more, more massive than those through which we had come separated the wooded grounds
from the road.
"This is the front of the place," Mr.
Veritas said. "We could have come here along the highway, but I detest
traffic, and, as I told you before, Otto is a wizard at finding roads free of it.
The way was less direct, but I think we made better time at that, than if we had kept to the main road."
"I am sure we did," I assented, my eyes upon the crowding, hurrying motors on the thoroughfare far below
us. But the answer was given absently, for I was reveling in the beauty of the place. Mr. Veritas put his hand upon my arm and turned me away

from the veranda railing.
"I'm not going to let you spoil this with a half portion," he said. "There's a view upstairs from the top balcony where we're going to have dinner which will reward your waiting."
The gesture and words were natural enough, and the next instant he had dropped his hand from my arm and returned the greeting of a smiling, instant man, evidently the proprietor of the place, who himself conducted us

up the stairs to the topmost balcony.
But there had been something posse-sive, lingering, almost caressing in the touch of his fingers. Yet it was so vague and elusive a thing that I could not resent it without making myself ridiculous.

Howard's Buttermilk Cream Best For Freckles, Sunburn and Tan

Old Time Recipe of Buttermilk Cream
in a New Way—A Gentle Massage
with Fingers Before Bedtime
Is All That Is Necessary

Big Demand for New Dressing Table
Package Amazes Druggists

The old time application of Buttermilk and Cream to whiten and preserve the skin and remove harsh little wrinkles and ugly sallowness is a grand mother's recipe and women throughout the country are again using it to secure a beautiful complexion and snow white hands and arms.
Buttermilk, however, is not always obtainable but a specialist has at last perfected a method of concentrating buttermilk and combining it with a perfect cream, which you can buy in small quantities ready to use at any first class drug store by simply asking for "Howard's Buttermilk Cream."
There is no secret about it nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just a common ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth.
To get the best effect, be sure to follow the simple directions. Howard's Drug Store and all good druggists guarantee a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund
the money.
IMPORTANT: Even the finest face
creams fail if the soap you use is harsh.
Howard's Buttermilk Cream Soap keeps skin smooth, soft and pliable.—Adv.

"First Aid!"

"First aid to a shiny nose, and last beauty aid I'd do without! That's the way I always think of the delightful Black and White Face Powder," says lovely Miss Nora Donelan, 1107 E.
92nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y. "It keeps away shine for hours, even in summer, and makes me feel and look fresh and well-groomed. It's simply marvellous to me the way this powder, which is so unusually soft and fine, clings so long and does away with constant reappo-sition. I love its delicate fragrance and true-to-life tints, too."
Black and White Face Powder, which is made from purest materials
and holds many times through flouest to give it such exquisite texture, is well worthy of its popularity among fashionable women everywhere, who marvel at its supreme excellence and low 35c price.

Growing children some- times require a tonic as do their elders

"Dear, I want you to know now that R.S.S. has been used for over 100 years
—it is made from fresh roots and berries
—growing children sometimes need a tonic, as do their elders—it is helping me, and I want you to take it regularly before each meal."
Try R.S.S. and you will be surprised how quickly your appetite improves. If you are tired, run-down and listless you owe it to yourself and family to give R.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished. R.S.S. is time-tried and reliable, and is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality.
R.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores

SPORT SAUCE

BY
SCHOENLEB

THE Association may only have six teams but at least one of the best has shown its superiority over an outfit from an eight-team organization. The General Excavators in second place in the association, last night triumphed in the Gardner Tap & Die nine, one of the highly touted Industrial League crews, 6 to 3.

Medium, pitching for the winners, hurled a nice game and had better support than Bertach of the Tap & Die.

The game last night was one of the first inter-league games played so far this season since the leagues have been in operation. A few more of this nature and fans will have a slant on the strongest teams in the city as well as in each league.

The latest dope on the Epworth No. 1 and Epworth Senior postponed contest, says that the game will be played July 27. That gives all concerned three weeks to get ready for the battle. A number of fans were disappointed last night when they understood the game was to be played at that time.

Calvary No. 1 holds a position in the first Church league similar to that of the New York Yankees in the American League. It will have to only win four of the five remaining games and the pennant is theirs. It took a great step forward Tuesday night when it won while Epworth No. 1 was going down.

The predicted revival of harness racing in Ohio is becoming a reality, despite the reverses suffered in the northern part of the state and the unfavorable weather earlier in the season. Even the knacker have been attracted by the success of the Mansfield, Marion and Akron meets.

When a change of rules was made for the harness sport at the first of the season, the revival was predicted by critics. Now, critics must give that change of rules the credit it deserves. Without a doubt, the change has been for the good of racing.

Records count for little now and the brown are classified by the amount of money they win. Everyone is after the cash and a little royal is waged on the tracks each day. And spectators benefit as a result.

The Ohio Short Ship Circuit has three more dates at Akron and then all big lines swing into action at Toledo. It is said that county fairs will want for horses this fall. Trainers claim that more horses are in training this year than several seasons and the county fairs will suffer as a result. Wins and losses will open the fair racing in this state the third week in this month.

BETTY NUTTHALL, COMING
Montreal, Que., July 7.—Miss Betty Nutthall, 16-year old English tennis star who defeated Mrs. Molla Mallory at Wimbledon, will arrive in Quebec on July 17 for an exhibition tour of Canada and the United States.

Tennis, Again Gaining Popularity Here, Needs Encouragement

By EDDIE SCHOENLEB
Sports Editor, The Star

WHILE recreational ball four—tennis in Marion, one of the finest sports of the summer months is slowly recovering and regaining some of its old prestige after almost dying a natural death.

That sport is tennis. And it still needs a lot of attention to completely revive in this city.

A checkup of the situation shows that only two really public courts exist in Marion. One is located at the intersection of Superior and Cleveland, near City Hospital, and the other is at Harding High.

In addition to these, the Vernon Heights Tennis Club controls three in that district of the city. Fairfield Engineering Co. has one. Cregool Co. is equipped with two. Marion Steam Shovel keeps up four courts, and the Power Manufacturing Co. has one.

Four Abandoned

And then we find four abandoned courts at McKinley Park, in the south end of town. These four have run down during the last few years and are now nothing but a heap of rubble. No one has had ambition enough to fix them up and one thing that positively will not exist without attention is a tennis court.

A few years ago the net game was more popular in Marion than it is today. But tennis enthusiasts of this city declare that a revival is under way this season and everything at present points to the truth of their statement.

The Vernon Heights Tennis Club has recorded a large increase in membership. The two public courts are kept hot from 5 o'clock in the morning until darkness calls an end to the festivities at night, and all industrial courts are being used extensively. The local tennis club has participated in one inter-city match so far this season and is planning more. A tournament also is being arranged.

Not the Name

Still the game has not reached its old level.

A few years ago interest in tennis was negligible. The courts at McKinley Park were kept in condition, tournaments were played, and the W. D. Clark cup was offered to the winner of the city meet. Even Harding High showed more interest at that time. Tennis ceased to exist in the high school this season after almost perishing last year.

What was the cause of the downfall of the net game?

A number of the most enthusiastic racket wielders claim that recreational ball had a lot to do with the situation. Working on this supposition, a survey of the tennis courts in Marion was taken Tuesday night, the night of the church league recreational ball games, and another taken Wednesday night, when no league games were played. Practically every court was occupied Tuesday night by one or two couples but spectators were missing and players eager to get on the courts also were sadly lacking.

ing. Wednesday night found all courts occupied with others waiting to get in the game. And the busiest of all courts was the one located near City Hospital.

Play Ball

The survey shows that recreational ball does, in a way, take the interest from tennis. But when a number of persons may play ball one night and get on the tennis courts the next, it can easily be seen that recreational ball is not doing any great damage. A special checkup showed that practically every man or youth wishing a racket on Marion courts Wednesday day night was swinging a bat on a recreational ball diamond the night before.

But, looking further into the matter, we find that a number of former Marion tennis stars are now taking their exercise on the golf links at the Country Club, and probably put one out of every 15 golfers will participate in tennis also.

But, now, with tennis again on the upgrade, and no noticeable dimming interest in either recreational ball or golf, indications are that the city will be supporting another popular major summer sport next season.

Elyria Richwines Coming Here for Double-Header With Marion Club Sunday

Visitors Responsible for One of Athletics' Three Defeats So Far This Season; Marion Out for Revenge; Main and Reese to Pitch

THE first double-header for the Marion Athletics is scheduled for Sunday at Lincoln Park when the Elyria Richwines will return for a twin bill. The first game, to go nine innings, will be called at 1:30, and the second, a seven-inning frayed, will start immediately following the initial game.

The Richwines trimmed Marion, 4 to 2, in their last appearance here, the locals receiving only six hits off Strike, stellar moundman from Elyria. It was one of the three defeats suffered by Marion so far this season. The other two came at the hands of the Toledo Old's Motors.

The games Sunday should furnish local fans with all the baseball entertainment they crave. The Athletics will be out to avenge their former defeat and the Richwines will come here with the determination to keep up their good record.

Main and Reese will pitch for Marion in the two games. Main probably taking the first contest. Reese showed excellent form in the game with the Toledo Old's Motors.

Toledo Old's Motors Monday. The remainder of the Marion lineup will be the same as last week while Elyria is expected to bring the same outfit here that visited Lincoln Park a few weeks ago and downed the locals.

COBB LEADS MACKS TO VICTORY OVER SOX

Athletics Trim Boston Outfit as Ty Shows Old Form

New York, July 7.—The very promising young player, T. R. Cobb, led the Athletics to a double victory over the Red Sox, getting four hits and blazing the trail for a triple steal that the Macks pulled in the third inning of the opening game. Cobb, on third base, stole home on Langford's wind up as the two remaining runners, starting with the pitch, also moved up a base. Jack Quinn, another juvenile, completely subdued the Sox in the opener, 6 to 1, while the Macks smacked three Boston pitchers for 15 hits to win the second, 7 to 6.

The Tigers and Browns indulged in another sockfest but this time Detroit had the bigger punch and won 9 to 8, with a three run rally in the eighth. Fred Schulte crashed into the concrete stands chasing a fly and the $100,000 bonanza will be out of the line up indefinitely.

Meanwhile, the Phils continued their domination of the lovely Braves, winning a double header, 6 to 4, and 5 to 3. Jack Fournier eased a homer out of the park in each game.

The rest of the field was lull.

SWITCHMEN DEFEAT BUCYRUS STUDEBAKERS

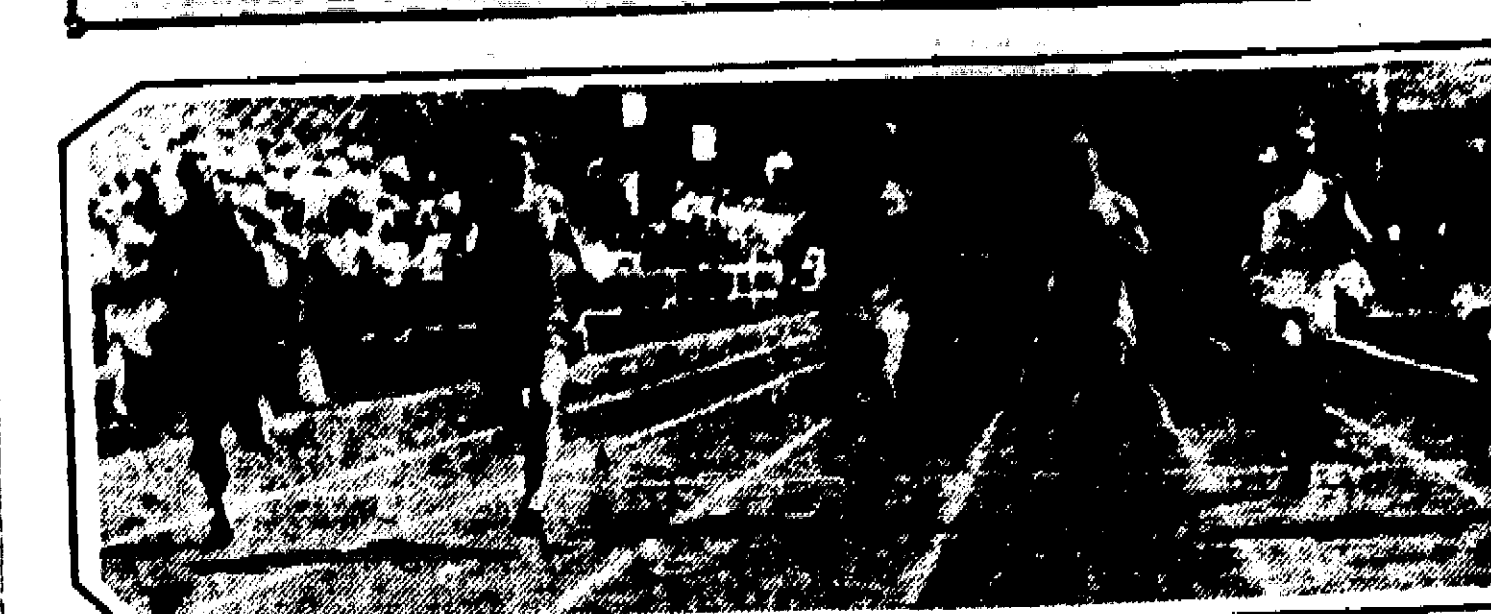

Erie Team Turns in Victory Over Visiting Outfit

The Erie Switchmen turned in a 6 to 5 victory over the Bucyrus Studebakers on the Central Junior High diamond last night. Greenland did the mound work for the winners.

The Switchmen are one of the leading teams of the Association and have been engaging in out-of-town games during the season. So far they have been very successful in their clashes with foreign outfits.

A large crowd witnessed the fracas.

CAN YOU PICK WINNER? JUDGES COULDN'T

Judges of track events at the National A. A. U. games at Lincoln, Neb., reserved their decision on the winner of the 100-yard dash until the motion pictures of the event could be developed and run "slow motion." This because of the fact that the entrants came to the tape apparently in a "dead heat." Chet Bowman and Charley Borah were first to be declared winners. Photo shows the finish. Left to right the men are Roland Locke, Bowman, Henry Cummings, Jackson Scholz, Frank Hussey and Borah.

BUTLER STORE BEATS ISALY DAIRIES, 2-1

Scores Winning Run in First of Seventh; Jones Pitches

Butler's Store recreational ball team last night defeated Isaly Dairies, 2 to 1, in a hot tussle at Central Junior High.

Stewart Jones pitched for the winners and allowed only eight hits while his teammates collected 11 off Zuppan, Isaly hurler. The playing of Richard and Myers featured for the winners. Butler will play Crestline here tonight.

SHARKEY TO ARRIVE IN CAMP LATE TODAY

New York, July 7.—With the arrival of Jack Sharkey and his local speaker from Boston late this afternoon, the ballgame will be turned on full blast. The garrulous gol is talking as confidently as he did before the slaying of Edward James Maloney, his Boston rival.

Sharkey does not wear openly at Dempsey as he did at Maloney, because he has great respect for the old manna hunter, who was a dominating ring figure when the young sailor was a flatie nobody in the navy.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At San Francisco—Joe Roche, San Francisco middleweight, won decision over Jimmy Marcus, of Los Angeles, 10 rounds.

At Cleveland—Wilson Varbo, Cleveland, won technical layover over Shuffie Callahan, Chicago, in third round of scheduled 10-round bout.

Jack McVey, New York, knocked out Walcott Langford, Chicago, last round of scheduled 10-round bout.

Sammy Vogel, New York, won technical knockout over Boots Antley, New Orleans, in sixth of scheduled 10-round bout.

MONTREAL POLICEMEN ENTER

Montreal, Que., July 7.—Four Montreal policemen will compete in the American police games at Baltimore, Md., beginning July 16.

General Excavators Beat Gardner Tap & Die, 6-3

The General Excavators today are celebrating a victory over the Gardner Tap & Die recreational ball team. They won last night, 6 to 3, in a game played at Central Junior High.

Mediam of the Excavators, allowed but seven hits while Bartsch gave 11. The errors on the part of the Tap & Die outfit helped the winners considerably. The Excavators made three mistakes.

The Excavators, in first place or first place in the Association until last week when they met their second defeat of the season, have been playing consistent ball during the year and still have a chance to win or tie for the Association lead. They played one of their best games last night.

BIRD-McGINNIS POST ENTERS GOLF TOURNEY

Will Take Part in Legion Meet at Indian Lake, Sunday

Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162 of the American Legion, will be represented in the Middle States Legion golf tournament to be held at Long Island, Indian Lake, Sunday, July 10, an invitation to participate in the contest has been formally accepted in behalf of the local World War Veterans' organization by L. Don Jones, post commander today.

The team, representing Bird-McGinnis Post will be made up of Clifford L. Horton, Walter E. Schaff, Henry W. Hane and Dan L. L. Marcher. A delegation of Post members is expected to accompany the team and witness the tournament play.

The tournament, the first event of its kind held in Ohio this year, is for Legion players exclusively. It is being sponsored by George Culture Post No. 6 of Springfield, officers of which are now registering entries from practically all Legion organizations in the larger cities in this section of Ohio.

A cup will go to the winning team and other prizes will include 12 golf balls for four medal winners, six for second, four for third and two for fourth. Other awards will be made for birdies and eagles.

The tournament will take place on the 36-hole course at Long Island. This will be the first time that Bird-McGinnis Post has been represented in a Legion golf meet.

"I'll Knock Sharkey Out and Then Beat Tunney to Decision," Says Dempsey

For First Time Jack Predicts Outcome of Fight in Which He Is To Engage: Formerly Left Prediction to Manager "Doc" Kearns

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, July 7.—"I'll knock Sharkey out and then I'll take on Tunney and beat him to the decision," the author of this ambitious statement was William Harrison Dempsey, the man of steel resolve. He made it as he left for his Saratoga training camp in the presence of a half dozen witnesses and one of them repeated it verbatim, more or less, to the writer today.

The remark, if correctly interpreted, places Dempsey on record for the first time as predicting the outcome of a fight in which he is about to engage. The last fight formerly was a natural born rubber stamp on things like that. "I do the fighting and leave the predicting to Doc," was form reply No. 1 in the glad, old days of the Dempsey-Kearns alliance. Another of his favorite reminders mentioned the undeniable fact that his opponent was not destined to be possessed of the two necessary number of hands, legs and what not and that, anyhow, no man could get as far as a title shot without being good.

Dempsey Changed

Dempsey has changed. All of his friends and acquaintances rushed to that fact as soon as the ex-champion appeared in the East. The alteration is more psychological than mental or physical. The Dempsey of the old days no longer is a boy with the head of a man. He has matured and grown up above the cockles and he speaks his mind if he feels the urge. Evidently he felt it on the occasion of his departure.

"I don't know Sharkey but I know myself," he is quoted as having said by way of elaboration. "I know I will get back my speed by the time the No. 2

Sharkey fight falls due and that means I figure to corner him some time in 15 rounds. That lad has been knocked out and what has been done before can be done again. I still have my punch. In fact, I never lost it; only my speed. I figure Tunney will be a harder man to match. He's both easy and smart. But I learned a lot about him in Philadelphia that night and I think I will know how to handle him this time. If I thought otherwise, I wouldn't be here."

Dempsey, of course, has an argument. If he didn't, he would naturally have to pay his way in like the rest of the saps on the night of the 21st.

The young man's great chance, as I see it, will come in the first few minutes of play when Sharkey may be a trifle uncertain and Dempsey will be fresh and fast and young again. And if he goes out there swinging as he should, it will be a great fight while it lasts with us, which won't be long. Dempsey's chance is that of any fighter. You fan Ruth the first three times he faces you and then on the fourth he hits the ball off the newsmen and you lose the ball game. Dempsey will have that chance for 60 seconds of every minute the fight lasts.

PRESBYTERIAN NO. 1 AGAIN MEETS DEFEAT

The Presbyterians No. 1 took another fall last night, meeting their doom at the hands of the second team, Presbyterian No. 2. The final score was 3 to 2. The game was played during the Presbyterian picnic, Garfield Park.

Verberg pitched for Presby No. 1 and F. Sage was on the mound for get back my speed by the time the No. 2

"They tell me this BUCKEYE is wonderful stuff!"

Unless they're out for blood, men usually discuss malt syrup at a card game. Some are boosters for hop flavored—others for plain—and so the argument begins. But they never disagree on the right brand to use, for nowadays, most everybody knows quality made Buckeye the outstanding leader. It's wonderful stuff!

ACTUAL VALUE OF FARM LAND IS $100, CLAIM

Realtors Say Recorder's Average of $62.62 an Acre Far Too Low

The actual average value of farm land in Marion County is considerably higher than the figure shown in the annual report of the county recorder, which appeared in yesterday's issue of the Star, local real estate men say.

The average value of the recorder's report was $62.62 an acre. The actual value, as shown by prices paid for land during the last year, is in the neighborhood of $100, realtors say.

It is pointed out that prices listed in the recorder's report are in connection with mortgage transactions and other forced sales, which does not represent actual values.

Cities Farm Sales

James S. Bonner, local real estate man, said that in farm sales held extensively in farm towns, the average value of land is $100 an acre and that the recorder's report represents about the lowest value for land of the better class.

In giving these figures, he refers to transactions not subject to court proceedings.

The value of farm properties depends upon the quality of the land but on the quality of the buildings and fences and the location of the roads. A large number of the better farms in the county are said to be located on improved roads.

Value Increasing

Land in Marion County has shown a gradual increase in value during the last year, it is said, and this increase is expected to continue as the value is brought about in the market.

Because of Marion County's excellent location and its fine system of roads and transportation facilities, the value of land in this locality is said to be increasing.

CARDINGTON COUPLE MARRIED IN NEW HOME

Cardington, July 7.—George Frew and Mrs. Katharine Hoffmire were married Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The ceremony was performed in the home they recently purchased and furnished on Second-street. O. L. Williams officiated, using as the best man, Mr. C. H. Farver, the bride's sister, family, the groom's niece, Mrs. Clarice Gatter, Philadelphia, and his nephew, Prof. Fred Hoad, Iager, W. Va. Mr. and Mrs. Frew, accompanied by Mrs. Gatter, drove to Colchester, where they are guests of Mr. Frew's relatives. They will leave home after July 10. The final state contest is scheduled to be held in Columbus some time this month. Arrangements are in charge of Grand Chancellor C. C. Williams of Columbus.

Ensign Charles L. Duke, 27, of the coast guard, boarded a rum runner in New York harbor and, single-handed, seized her $500,000 rum cargo, at the same time coolly subduing and arresting her entire crew of 22 Nova Scotia seamen, forcing the men to remain below till aid came to him.

PYTHIANS GET OFFICIAL NOTICE ON LIMA EVENT

Judges Give Canby Lodge First Award in Page Rank Work Contest

Official notice of the judges' decision in the Knights of Pythias degree work contest held recently at Lima, in which Canby Lodge No. 51 of this city was victorious in the page rank contest and Whetstone Lodge No. 718 of Waldo was defeated by Lima Lodge No. 91 in the knight rank, was received by officers of Canby lodge here today.

The notice came from Judge Charles L. Justice of this city, who is attending sessions of the district court of appeals at Lima. Judge Justice, a past chancellor of Canby Lodge and inner guard of the grand lodge of Ohio, had charge of arrangements for the contest held in Lima.

Narrow Margin

Canby Lodge won by a narrow margin in its contest in the page rank with Lima Lodge, the report disclosed. There was only a half point difference in the official score as announced by three past grand chancellors who acted as judges. In the knight rank contest, Lima won over Whetstone lodge by 23 points.

Advance information indicating the outcome of the competition was received here yesterday.

With definite assurance that it is the page rank winner in this district, the Canby Lodge degree team will start rehearsals at once in preparation for competition with victorious teams from other districts for state honors. The final state contest is scheduled to be held in Columbus some time this month. Arrangements are in charge of Grand Chancellor C. C. Williams of Columbus.

Rail Highways Are Safe

Safety in Operation—Safety for Passengers and for Employees—is an ideal condition for which the Railroads of America annually are spending scores of millions of dollars. The tremendous reduction in the number of accidents and fatalities in the past few years proves that the expenditures have been wise and profitable.

There are no uncharted sections on the main rail highways that form unbroken bands of steel to link up the widely scattered parts of this country. The line of travel is marked adequately and efficiently. All that modern invention and ingenuity can provide, in the way of automatic signaling systems, and safety devices of all kinds, has rendered train travel safe and sure.

The flash of light that is a directing beacon to the knowing eye, and the silent automatic signal, furnished along heavily-traveled tracks, are only two items among the innumerable measures taken to protect and safeguard trains and their precious human loads.

In no other cause is the interest of Railroad officials more clearly and successfully revealed than in the unending fight against danger and accidents, and the steady striving for Safety of Service.

The Hocking Valley is conscious of its indebtedness to its patrons to safeguard their well being while they are our guests. Our facilities are offered with the confidence that the public will have no cause for disappointment.

TURNER RULING IS SOUGHT ON STATE LIBRARY

Question Whether Control Board Can Authorize Use of Ohio Funds

Columbus, July 7.—Members of the state library board of trustees today awaited receipt of a ruling from Attorney General Edward C. Turner as to whether the state control board can legally authorize use of state funds, in the form of a deficiency appropriation, to defray expenses of operating the state library.

In the meantime, the board is deferring action relative to Gov. Newberry's plan for decentralizing the activities of the library by distributing its various activities among the state supported universities and normal schools.

Definite action is expected to be taken by the board at a meeting here July 13.

Attorney Henry S. Ballard, Columbus, counsel for the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, announced his intention of filing a suit to enjoin the carrying out of the governor's decentralization plan, if the library board accepted Donahy's recommendations. The suit, if filed, would be based upon the contention that no legal provision had been made for expenditure of state funds to take care of expenses which would be involved in the operation of such a plan.

The state library was closed to the public June 30, due to lack of funds. Governor Donahy having vetoed the $120,000 legislative appropriation intended to take care of operating expenses of the library during the 18 months fiscal period beginning July 1.

During public hearings conducted by the library board last yesterday heads of state-supported universities and normal schools informed Governor Donahy and the members of the library board that in some instances, the staffs of their libraries were incompetent to take care of the transfer of state library activities and, in other cases, library facilities were inadequate to house the additional books.

The heads of these institutions, however, voiced their willingness to co-operate as far as possible with the library board in whatever plan the board might decide upon.

Representatives of various other state organizations attended the hearing and voiced their objection to any plan involving decentralization of the activities of the state library.

Members of the library board were told by C. A. Dyer, legislative agent of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, and by the Ohio State Bar Association, that if the attorney general rules adversely relative to the deficiency appropriation proposal, various interests throughout the state, desirous of helping the state library in fact, would furnish funds to permit operation of the library.

NOTORIOUS GEM THIEF HELD IN CONNECTICUT

Williams Captured After Gun Battle in Which He Was Wounded

New London, Conn., July 7.—"Howdy Bill," Williams, notorious gem thief wanted for the murder of a policeman at Scarsdale, N. Y., was captured at Sound View, Old Lyme, Conn., today after a gun battle in which he was slightly wounded, and is now on his way to New York with detectives from that city who captured him. Williams, who was wounded in the right leg by a bullet from a detective's gun, was taken to a hospital here where the wound was dressed, and immediately he was taken to a cell in police headquarters. Preparations were made to seek extradition paper when the prisoner decided to go back to New York of his own volition.

NEED 23,000 NAMES TO BLOCK MARSHALL LAW

Senator Bender of Cleveland Attacks Regime of Justices and Village Mayors

Columbus, July 7.—Opponents of the Marshall Bill, which would restore to justice of the peace and village mayors the right to try liquor cases, by meeting legal objections voiced by the United States Supreme Court recently, were today busily seeking 23,000 additional referendum signatures, which must be obtained by Aug. 1, to prevent the law becoming effective.

The figures were announced by Sen. George H. Bender, Cleveland, before a meeting of the Columbus Federation of Labor here. Bender said 60,000 of the necessary 85,000 referendum signatures already have been obtained.

His address was a scathing attack upon the regime of the justices and village mayors as judicial officers, and upon the Anti-Saloon League.

"Justices of the peace and their assistants are preparing to launch a reign of terror upon the people of Ohio, beginning Aug. 9, when the Marshall Bill would become effective," said Bender.

RECEIPTS GAIN

New Haven, Conn., Leads 40 Postoffice in Percentage

Washington, July 7.—Postal receipts of 26 selected cities totaled $29,641,226.47 in June as compared with $28,719,454.55 for the same month in 1928, an increase of $921,774.92, or 3.39 per cent, the Postoffice Department announced today.

Presumably the sale of the 10-cent Lindbergh stamp was responsible for a portion of the increase.

New Haven, Conn., with an increase of 17.73 per cent, led the 50 cities in the percentage of increase. Akron, O., was second with an increase of 14.81 per cent while Worcester, Mass., was third with an increase of 13.39 per cent.

SAYS THERE IS MARKET FOR CLASS A, BABY MILK

Dr. J. T. Gruber, City Inspector, Claims There is but One Dairy Qualified

Belief that there is a market in Marion for class A milk and for a first class baby milk, was expressed by Dr. J. T. Gruber, milk and meat inspector, at the meeting of the city health department yesterday afternoon.

While the market exists, the greatest drawback to changing the code to provide for such a milk is, according to Dr. Gruber, the fact that there is but one dairy in the county at the present time which is equipped to furnish such milk. Under the milk code a dairy to furnish class A milk and a first class baby milk must have each cow individually tested and must have a dairy equipped with the most modern improvements.

Dr. Gruber reported that the two cows which reacted to the tuberculin test last month have been slaughtered and were found to have had advanced cases of the disease.

The inspector also reported that he had made 24 inspections of 364 samples of milk and had collected 370 reduction tests. There were nine permits to sell milk granted during the month and four refused. There was also one permit cancelled. Five tuberculin tests were made by Dr. Gruber during the month with no reactions.

During public hearings conducted by the library board last yesterday heads of state-supported universities and normal schools informed Governor Donahy and the members of the library board that in some instances, the staffs of their libraries were incompetent to take care of the transfer of state library activities and, in other cases, library facilities were inadequate to house the additional books.

The heads of these institutions, however, voiced their willingness to co-operate as far as possible with the library board in whatever plan the board might decide upon.

GRAND JURY ABOLITION REFORM IS FAVORED

State Bar Association Expected To Adopt Report of Committee

Cedar Point, July 7.—Adoption by the Ohio State Bar Association of its report of its committee on judicial administration and legal reform recommending abolition of grand juries and setting up a new system of criminal court procedure that would make it more difficult for criminals to escape punishment on technicalities was practically conceded here today.

The report was submitted by John A. Cline, Cleveland, chairman of the committee, shortly after the morning's convention session adjourned.

Provision for an investigation with a view to reformation of criminal laws also appears to have the support needed to put it through.

Ex-Senator George W. Sieber, Akron, and Judge Charles B. Hunt, Cleveland, are candidates for the association presidency in the election to be held this afternoon. Hunt is generally picked to win.

Further expressions of good will were voiced when Senator Antonio Perez, Texas, Mexico City, first president of the Mexican Bar Association, addressed the convention today.

SANITARY WORK NEARLY FINISHED ON HENRY-ST

Improvement Largely Responsible for Absence of Typhoid Fever, Belief

Work of installing sanitary equipment in homes on Henry st., the center of the typhoid district last year, has been practically completed it was reported by the Sanitary Commissioner Charles Tobin at the meeting of the board of health held in the offices of the city health department, yesterday afternoon.

The elimination of the unsanitary condition on Henry st., which was brought out through the efforts of the sanitary commissioner working through the health department, is believed to have been responsible for the absence of typhoid fever in that district this year.

The sanitary commissioner reported that he had quarantined and released three families during the month of June.

More than 20 complaints of weeds were taken care of during the month by the sanitary commissioner.

OHIO BELL'S STATEMENTS CHALLENGED BY STATE

Turner's Reply Brief Says One-Fourth of Male Employees Are Supervisors

Columbus, July 7.—Direct challenge of various statements and arguments made by counsel for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. in support of its appraisal of its properties throughout Ohio, in connection with the state revenue commission's plan to telephone rates, is made in a reply brief on file with the commission today. This reply brief was prepared, on behalf of the state, by Attorney General Edward C. Turner and Attorney W. S. McConaughy, Dayton; Fred W. Postle and A. M. Calland, both of Columbus, special counsel.

The reply brief, it is announced, was submitted "in order to assist the commission in analyzing and determining those points which seemed for the company has emphasized as important."

After reviewing the cost items comprising the telephone company's valuation, the reply brief asserts that "every fourth man employed by the company is a supervisor."

The brief also points out that the company's valuation of its properties is based upon a method of depreciation which is "arbitrary and unjustified."

NINE ARE DEAD

German Train Derailed and Plunged Down Mountain Side

Hannover, Germany, July 7.—Nine persons are dead today as the result of a passenger train disaster in the Harz mountains near here yesterday. Scores of passengers were injured.

The train was derailed and plunged down a mountain side. The track had been washed out by floods.

At first it was reported that only four trainmen were dead but the others died from injuries early this morning.

MINERS MEET TODAY TO CONSIDER PROPOSALS

Ohio Operators Willing To Pay 1917 Wage Scale to Workers

Columbus, July 7.—The six sub-district presidents of the Ohio District United Mine Workers, were engaged here today, it was announced by District President Lee Hall, to meet with representatives of the operators to consider proposals of mine operators to return to work at the old 1917 wage scale of $5 per day.

Hall and other officers who will attend the meeting are at 2 p. m. today, refusing to comment upon the probable decision, though the miners so far have presented a solid front in demanding the provisions of the 1917 wage scale.

Representatives representing about 80 per cent of the active miners in Ohio met here last week and agreed to comply with the union miners at the 1917 scale, and named July 15 as the date when they would open their mines on union shop basis if their offer was not accepted by the union miners.

GANGLAND WAR OUTBREAK CLAIMS TWO CHICAGOANS

Street and Deserted Highway Murders Bring Recent Total to Seven

Chicago, July 7.—Gangland warfare broke anew in Chicago today claiming two victims. Peter Sarnow, 39, was shot to death by gangsters in the street and a body of 34, E. E. Middle, was decapitated on a deserted highway, where police said he had been taken for a ride.

These murders placed Chicago's body count at seven since June 15, when the two deaths raised gangland murders here in the last nine days to seven. All police said, were highlights in a bootleg war.

Police officers placed Emma's body in the trunk of a car and took it to the morgue. The two deaths raised gangland murders here in the last nine days to seven. All police said, were highlights in a bootleg war.

COMMANDER IS DISTURBED BY PRESS REPORTS

Hears That Secretary Wilbur Is Opposed to Plan; More Honors in Paris

BULLETIN
 Washington, July 7.—The navy will place no obstacle in the path of Commander Richard E. Byrd's proposed South Pole flight. Secretary Wilbur today in commenting upon reports from Paris that the naval aviator was disturbed by the suggestion that the navy did not look with favor upon the project. "Personally, I think to see Byrd risk his life in the Antarctic flight," Secretary Wilbur said, "but with a cruising range of 2,500 miles he should be able to make the flight without overtaxing his machine. If he decides to make the attempt we will place no obstacle in his path."

Paris, July 7.—Disturbed by press reports that Secretary of the Navy Wilbur was opposed to his proposed South Pole flight, Commander Richard E. Byrd, pilot of the Fokker monoplane America upon his transatlantic flight, today commented with Washington to ascertain the official attitude towards his Antarctic voyage. It was learned from an authoritative source.

Commander Byrd, it was understood, asked permission to make the South Pole flight if there was no objection to it in Washington. The commander has already flown over the North Pole.

According to reports circulated here Byrd, son of Henry Ford, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., are financially backing the Byrd South Pole flight.

Paris, July 7.—Commander Richard E. Byrd and his associate fliers, Bert Acosta, G. O. Neville and Bernt Halchen, were warmly received today by Fernand Dubouche, president of the chamber of deputies, and congratulated on their nonstop flight from New York to New-Mer, France.

The fliers, who had a late breakfast, arrived in the salon of the chamber at 11:40 o'clock this morning and were introduced to President Dubouche by Sheldon Whitehouse, American chargé d'affaires.

President Dubouche apologized to the American fliers because no formal reception had been arranged, explaining that the chamber of deputies had no formal session scheduled. He assured them, however, that all of the deputies as well as himself were enthusiastic over their achievement.

Talks of Plans
 Commander Byrd thanked the president, and, after discussing the flight, told Dubouche of his plans for a South Pole expedition.

"It is possible," said Byrd, "that I might be able to connect up my South short time."

Pole flight with the American and will fight somewhere in South America on our return trip."

Commander Byrd's quarter of aviators broke up today for the first time since they reached Europe. Hitherto they had remained together receiving honors by group.

Balchen planned to fly to Amsterdam to confer with representatives of the Fokker company regarding plans for Byrd's South Pole expedition. Balchen said that he would remain in Amsterdam only a few hours and expected to be back at the Le Bourget air depot before 6 o'clock tonight.

At the same time medals will be granted to Byrd's companions but Byrd's medal will be gold while the others will be silver.

The honor conferred upon Byrd yesterday by Premier Daladier was higher than that granted to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. While Lindbergh was made a chevalier of the legion of honor, Commander Byrd was made an officer of the legion.

This higher honor was due to Commander Byrd's greater age and his previous achievements, notably his flight over the North Pole.

GEORGE DAVIDSON RITES TO BE HELD ON FRIDAY

Services Will Be Conducted from Residence; Burial in Marion Cemetery

Funeral services for George Davidson, 56, of 384 Silvera, who died at Evans Street Quarry, Tuesday afternoon of heart trouble, will be held at the residence at 10 o'clock Friday morning in charge of Rev. William Bowman, pastor of the Toledo Avenue Mission. Burial will take place in Marion Cemetery.

It was erroneously reported by The Star yesterday that the dead man was David H. Davidson, the son of George Davidson, both of whom live at 384 Silvera.

TRUDY SAVES GIRL

First Woman to Swim English Channel in Heroic Role

Los Angeles, July 7.—Gertrude Ederle, first woman to conquer the English Channel, was being praised today for saving a girl from drowning at Santa Monica beach.

"Trudy" outdistanced lifeguards in attempt to reach Miss Mary Ashcroft of Hollywood, who was seized with cramps while swimming 500 yards off shore.

Miss Ederle was on the beach in her swimming garments when she heard the cry for help. "Trudy," unaided, towed Miss Ashcroft in, being relieved of her burden within a few yards of safety.

Miss Ashcroft was revived in a few minutes.

"It is possible," said Byrd, "that I might be able to connect up my South short time."

FUNERAL SERVICES ARE HELD FOR STRINE INFANT

Funeral services for Valjean Strine, two-day old son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Strine, 645 E. Farmington, who died at the residence of inanition, last night, were held at the C. E. Curtis & Co. Chapel, at 10 o'clock this morning. Burial was in Marion Cemetery.

HAY FIELD FIRE
 Firemen from the central station responded to a call from the intersection of Johnston and Wilson-av at 4:11 yesterday afternoon when a hay field was discovered to be on fire. The blaze was put out by the firemen with small loss. The fire is thought to have started from a bonfire in an adjoining yard.

The HOOVER

It BEATS... as it Sweeps... as it Cleans

There is no real substitute for "POSITIVE AGITATION"

To see what "Positive Agitation" really means in rug cleaning, try the Greater Hoover alongside any of the ordinary type vacuum cleaners.

Not merely on dust and surface dirt—any cleaner will whisk that up with ease.

But try it on the deeply embedded grit that gnaws the life out of carpeting, and on the stubborn clinging lint that's so hard to remove.

Then you'll see with startling clearness why "it pays to know the difference between The Hoover and a vacuum cleaner," and why, when it comes to thorough cleaning, there is no real substitute for "POSITIVE AGITATION."
